

The ancestry of the Palestinian people has been the subject of much controversy for years! It is reported that several Jewish and non-Jewish historical and DNA studies carried out in Israeli Universities and abroad prove that most Palestinians have Israelite blood in their veins!

How is that possible? Not all Jews were killed and exiled from their land during the Jewish Wars against Rome from 66-70 A.D. A few of them remained in the Northern Regions of Israel and in Jerusalem, and their descendants continued to live there, even as Israel fell into the hands of different empires.

It is another historically proven fact that even in the early centuries following the fall of Jerusalem to the Romans, some Jews returned to repopulate the Northern and Southern Regions. However, after the Arab Conquests in the seventh century, many of these Jews converted to Islam, which is why most Palestinians today are Muslims, although not very religious!

Keeping this in mind, in February 2024, the EU Foreign Affairs Chief, Josep Borrell, spoke in response to questions about assertions he made in January, that Israel had created and financed the Palestinian terror group Hamas. He explained that Israel enabled the development of Hamas as a rival to the Palestinian Party Fatah.

This is also the opinion of many other Jewish people around the world and in Israel itself, who have taken to the streets in protest against Israel's Prime Minister, Benjamin Netanyahu. With the rising death toll of Israeli soldiers and Palestinian civilians, and hostages still contained by Hamas, this opposition is increasing dramatically in Israel!

Many Israeli people, both religious and secular, have also raised doubts over Netanyahu's Government Security, after Hamas was able to walk through Israeli checkpoints on October seven in broad daylight!
