

Contents

Why so much Solidarity?	03
The Usual Culprits	08
What about the Historical Facts?	15
Doing more Harm than Good	19

01

WHY SO MUCH SOLIDARITY?

Today the Gay Pride Flag and many rainbow-themed items and colour schemes are displayed almost everywhere. This is all done even more so during the Pride month of June, as an outward symbol of support and solidarity with the LGBTQ community and movements. To answer the question in our title above, there are several important reasons for all this “solidarity.”

First, the general public has been led to believe that LGBTQ is a civil rights issue, when in reality it is a moral and religious issue. Even genuine Christians, because they have no saving knowledge of the Word of God, have swallowed this lie.

Second, as same-sex marriage is legalized in more and more countries, and same-sex relationships are on the increase – due, in part, to the “conversion therapy” the United Nations’ education programme has been carrying out on our youth at school – an increasing amount of multinational companies have jumped on the LGBT-friendly bandwagon because it is convenient to do so.

Why? For one, the Human Rights Campaign (HRC) gives these companies top honours in its annual assessment for voicing their support for LGBTQ.

Third, and more importantly, many people show solidarity to gay movements today because, even if they do not agree, they have no real choice in the matter. In much of Western Society anyone who opposes homosexual practices, or speaks out against the true and hidden goals behind the LGBTQ Movement, is falsely accused of “intolerance,” “hatred” and “homophobia” and is targeted for persecution or even prosecution.

It makes no difference who they are – whether teacher, politician, businessman, religious leader or ordinary citizen – they are all obliged to conform or face the consequences. Too numerous to mention are the people with commercial activities that have been fined or sanctioned for refusing to celebrate, endorse or promote the Gay Agenda. Others have been fired from their workplace. Let us thank God for them.

Keeping up with the Times

It is disturbing but not surprising that many secular organizations and political leaders have chosen to condone and support what they view as “love” and “diversity,” even though God calls it a celebration of sin and rebellion.

After all, the Bible specifically warns that as we get closer to the end of history the spread and acceptance of homosexuality in society would be on the increase. Jesus Himself said it would be like in the days of Lot. Moses wrote that the men of Sodom violently banged on the door of Lot’s house and demanded to have sexual relations with Lot’s two Angelic Visitors. This gives us an idea of how bad things were in that city and why God had to destroy it.

However, it is surprising to see people who define themselves Christians take up the Pride Flag and cheer on the sexual revolution. Yet that is what has been happening at an increasing rate.

Going back in time, when the United States Supreme Court struck down part of the Defence of Marriage Act in 2013, the Empire State Building was lit up in rainbow colours, and was approved by many “believers.” And when the Supreme Court established the legality of gay marriage nationwide in 2015, the White House proudly shone with the rainbow colours. But things have gotten much worse since then.

Although many Bible-believing Christians are greatly shocked and disturbed by the faith compromise we have been witnessing, we must remember the Bible says this too will happen.

The Apostle Paul calls it the great “falling away,” or “apostasy.” He warns that many professing believers will despise correction and justify sin, even to the extent that they will demonize those who take a stand against it.

Many of our modern-day “ministers” and their “churches” are a direct fulfilment of this prophecy. They are under the wings of Rome and are therefore promoting her interests. Some try to hide this fact while others openly display whose side they are on. The Hillsong Church and Christ the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church are just two examples. Below is an extract from their bold advertisement on internet:

Christ the Good Shepherd Lutheran Church commits to being a Reconciling in Christ congregation. We welcome the participation of people of all ages, ethnic background, sexual orientation, gender identity, education, physical ability, mental health, nationality, and socio-economic status, all who want to join us in serving the world with gratitude, reflecting the unconditional love of God. Our unity is in Christ.

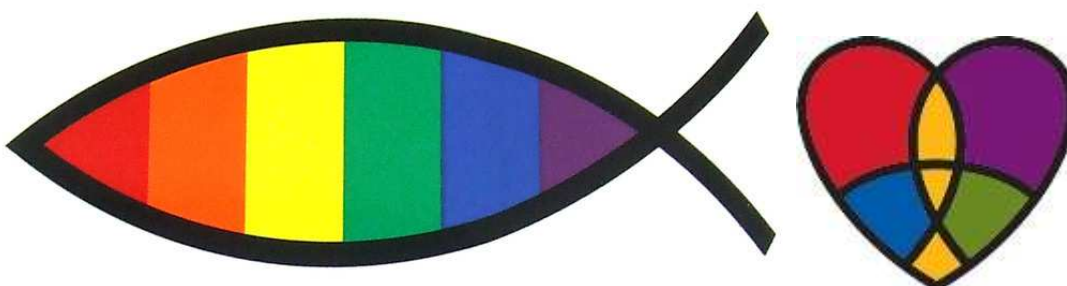

Have you noticed their biblical emphasis on love and nothing about the need for repentance and sanctification? Here we see the words of the Apostle Paul fulfilled, where he says these false prophets will act religious, but will reject the power that could make them holy (see 2 Timothy 3:5). He warns believers to stay away from people and congregations like that.

If you still have doubts and think this “church” is just being “seeker sensitive” and hopes, through “acceptance, love and care” to convert the sinner, take a look at what the remaining part of their advertisement says, and the images they use. The article reads:

Have you seen our Rainbow Fish? What does it mean? You probably recognize the use of the fish symbol, a symbol for Christianity since the days of the early church. In recent times, the fish symbol is often found on churches, businesses, and even ads and cars.

The rainbow, another Christian symbol, was given to Noah from God with a promise and reminder that the world would never again be destroyed as it was in the flood... In the late 70’s, the gay and lesbian community also adopted it as a symbol of diversity, and you see the “gay flag” on everything from homes and businesses to cars and ads. It’s a symbol that sends the message that people are valued for their differences, and that everyone is welcome.

Images of Christ the Good Shepherd Church

Outside their church building

God
adores
you!

Hillsong's "love" message to gay people

02

THE USUAL CULPRITS

Dear reader, when you see anything evil going on in the world today, and seek to understand most of what took place in the past, remember this saying: ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME! There is a great deal of both historic and biblical evidence to support this fact. The Apostle John writes:

And in you was found the blood of prophets and of saints, and of all who have been slaughtered on earth.

(Revelation 18:24)

Behind all this so-called support and solidarity towards the gay community from the secular and religious world, and the discrimination against Christians who actively take a stand against it, are the powerful Vatican-controlled global governmental bodies, such as the United Nations and the European Union, supported by the Vatican-controlled mass media.

Through the introduction of new laws, lies and propaganda, their aim is to destroy God's intent for marriage and mankind and violently impose this anti-biblical lifestyle on the rest of society.

For instance, several years ago the European Parliament passed resolutions for abortion rights and gay marriages to be promoted throughout the European Union and called on all EU members to recognize same-sex civil partnerships equally with heterosexual marriage and for all critics to be silenced.

Their resolutions say that the European Parliament takes the view that, "Discriminatory comments against homosexuals by social and political leaders fuel hatred and violence," and calls on the relevant governing bodies to condemn them.

Even many ex-homosexuals themselves have warned that the ultimate goal of the LGBT Movement is to silence all opposition to anything that is pro-family or pro-Christian and to make the whole world embrace and practice homosexuality.

George Carneal, author of the book, Queer to Christ: My Journey into the Light, is just one of those people. He told CBN News in 2020 that he believed LGBTQ pressures on American culture were going to get worse. He also warned the public against accepting the media's and Hollywood's glamorization of the homosexual lifestyle, because it is very different to what they portray it to be.

Singer and harpist Miora Greyland tells a horrifying story of what it was like to grow up with gay activists. She said her parents wanted her very much to be gay and forced her at a very young age to have sex with her parents' friends and to watch her father have sex with young male prostitutes. She was expected to be in favour of all things gay and hate all people who were not, because their aim was to hurt gay people, she was told.

She was taught that, "Homosexuality is innate to all people, but the only way to get a boy to embrace his 'natural' homosexuality is to make sure he has same-sex experience before he is old enough to be ruined by a girl."

Miora also warned that the Gay Movement is very different from the philosophy in the rest of the world. "The fundamental difference is this," she said, "They believe that sex is good, all sex, all the time, between all people of all ages, and more sex will make everyone happy."

The Satanic leaders in positions of power today, many of which are active Sodomites themselves, have been carrying these things out globally for quite some time now on our youth at schools and universities. Very young children are being constantly put under pressure to experiment with sex, and sex with same-sex partners.

Reports say the sex education agenda issued by the United Nations Economic, Social and Cultural Organisation recommended teaching nine-year olds the “safety of abortion, the positive and negative effects of aphrodisiacs, and about homophobia, trans-phobia and abuse of power.”

As far back as 2005 an English Pastor reported that the Daily Telegraph featured an article entitled Sex lessons – do you know what your children are being taught? It described the personal, social and health education (PSHE) lessons in a school in Shoreham Sussex. Parents were greatly disturbed when they discovered the lessons for 12-year-olds taught about anal, oral and digital sex.

Back in 2009 The Washington Times wrote in an article that much of what is being taught to our young girls and boys in sex education classes is too graphic and vulgar to be quoted in the newspaper. Sex education programmes instruct our children on how to perform sexual acts, including homosexuality and sadomasochism.

These are just a few of numerous cases. In many other Western nations these same things have been happening and have gotten much worse, without most people, even parents, being aware of it. If you are still not convinced that the general public, including LGBTQ individuals themselves, has been lied to and led astray by those from whom they expected to receive guidance and support, the additional information provided below should aid you in your understanding.

When the Blind Lead the Blind

Since the 1970s major medical associations have declared homosexuality as a normal counterpart of heterosexuality. These associations say their claims are based on significant empirical scientific evidence.

Although this “scientific evidence” has been critically reviewed by other scientists, who claim this evidence is arbitrary and does not support their claims, it has become the scientific consensus and was endorsed by the World Health Organization (WHO).

The WHO, and not a small number of various psychologists, also declared that “stigmatisation” and “discrimination” of gay people may lead to mental-health problems. For example, they say homophobia can make teenagers feel harassed and hopeless, which can lead to clinical depression.

All this “good news” has certainly done much to make your average LGBTQ person very comfortable in his lifestyle. Even more comforting was Pope Francis’ unbiblical ecumenical philosophy, “Who am I to judge.”

It is a pity that Bergoglio, and the “ministers” that hold to his doctrine, and teach likewise, make no distinction between judging in a hypocritical manner, which is what the Bible forbids, and judging with right judgement, which is what the Bible commands. The Vatican continues to this day to release mixed and ambiguous messages on its position concerning LGBTQ rights.

Mass Confusion over Gender Issues

Over the last few decades, a lot of media attention has been given to the controversial issue of gender and sex. Much of this media coverage has caused mass confusion and destroyed the lives of countless young people. “It is not nature” – chromosomes and hormones – “that determines if an individual is male or female, but nurture.” In other words, how they are brought up. This is what we have been told by many in the medical field. The story of Bruce Reimer proves such a notion to be false.

A Plan that Backfired

You might not be familiar with the famous Bruce Reimer Case of the 1960s. Bruce and his twin brother Brian were born as two perfectly normal boys, but seven months after their birth both boys began to have difficulty urinating. So their parents, Ron and Janet Reimer, took them to hospital to undergo circumcision.

One day later, the parents were told that the operation had gone badly for Bruce. The doctor had used a cauterizing needle instead of a blade, which malfunctioned and the surge in current completely burned off Bruce's penis. Devastated, Ron and Janet took the boys home.

However, some months later they met a psychologist, Dr John Money, who seemed to have a solution to their problem. Money was a specialist in sex-changes and was one of those we firmly believed that it was not so much biology that determines whether an individual is male or female, but how they are brought up.

Money gladly took on the Reimer case, as it seemed the perfect experiment to provide irrefutable evidence for his theory. To cut the story short, when Bruce was just less than two years old, he was given the name Brenda and in July 1967 he was taken to hospital to be completely castrated.

Money warned the child's parents that if the experiment was to work, they must never tell Brenda or the twin brother the truth. They were invited to visit Money on a yearly basis to keep track of their progress, and for safety the case was given the name, John/Joan Case.

Up until the age of thirteen, it appeared the experiment had been successful. Brenda appeared to be much tidier than the twin brother and disliked to have dirty hands and face, and so on. But then things took a turn; Brenda began to feel suicidal. The mother Janet said:

I could see that Brenda wasn't happy as a girl... She was very rebellious. She was very masculine, and I could not persuade her to do anything feminine. Brenda had almost no friends growing up. Everybody ridiculed her, and called her cavewoman.

Grieved by the situation, Ron and Janet decided to stop taking the child to see Dr Money and to do what he had told them not to do. Within weeks of hearing the truth, Brenda chose to become David.

He underwent re-constructive surgery and later got married. However, David was greatly disturbed that his case was labelled as a successful case in the medical world and that Money's theory was therefore used to "help" other patients with similar gender issues.

Admitting the Truth in Part

An article quoted an incident where a school near Chicago tried to accommodate a boy who said he was a girl. They allowed him to use the girls' locker room, but school officials wanted to put a curtain around his changing area. The Obama Administration objected, insisting that a privacy curtain would "violate his civil rights."

This writer found it hypocritical that the atheists and evolutionists who run the governments and academic institutions say being transgender is a spiritual issue. Their argument is the child is a female trapped in a male body.

Do you see their hypocrisy? As the science is obvious – because the hormones, chromosomes and physical structure of every cell in his body carry the unmistakable markers of a human male – they turn to the spiritual realm and give that as the answer.

Obviously, they are referring to the soul and spirit. But while admitting that it is a spiritual issue, they totally deny it is caused by sin.

Another article reports that during the Obama Administration, eleven states in the United States of America sued the Federal Government because it threatened to withhold funds from the schools that obliged students to go to bathrooms and locker rooms for their own sex. These states said the Obama Administration “conspired to turn the workplaces and educational settings across the country into laboratories for a massive social experiment.”

In his popular book, Lies that Go Unchallenged, the famous American attorney, and former White House Counsel, Charles Colson, says that, “Being transgender, as it is called, is a violation not only of the moral order, but also of the biological order.”

Sadly, transgender people are committing suicide right, left and centre, and it is not due to discrimination or bullying. It is because these people are at war with themselves, and neither sex-changes nor the hormone drugs they are being prescribed by sex-change specialists can give them peace. Only repentance and the desire to stop fighting what God created them to be will bring the happiness and freedom they long for.

WHAT ABOUT THE HISTORICAL FACTS?

Some people will quote the awful violence against gay people throughout the centuries, that continues to this day. The atrocities of Viceroy Francisco de Toledo and Adolf Hitler, to mention a few.

More recent examples include the bombing of a lesbian bar in Atlanta in 1997; the fire that swept through a gay bar in New Orleans in 1973; the Virginia shooting in 2000; the torture of gay people in Islamic nations, the bullying of gay youth at school and the terrible massacre at the gay nightclub in Orlando, Florida in 2016, to quote a few.

Dear reader, you must know how Satan and his minions operate. They, the Elite, create the crisis, blame it on the “anti-gay religious fanatic,” or “homophobic,” and use the situation to further the Gay Agenda. The result is more “solidarity” for gay movements, ridicule for God’s Laws, persecution for Christians and a wall between both parties.

We have also witnessed the conflict brings progress scheme in many other situations in history. For example, the Holocaust, the Black Lives Matter Movement and the illegal immigration problem.

For example, a recent BBC report said President Joe Biden has signed a law that designates the Orlando nightclub as a national memorial site. There are also plans to transform the site of the former nightclub into a permanent memorial site.

It will include an open-air museum, as well as an education centre with gardens and a public plaza. The president also announced the appointment of a US special envoy to advance the “human rights” of LGBTQ people globally. The Stonewall Riots produced the same results.

Nobody Knows Who Started it!

The Stonewall Riots, also referred to as the Stonewall Uprising, or the Stonewall Rebellion, gets its name from violent demonstrations against a police raid that began in the early morning of June 28, 1969, at the Stonewall Inn, located in the Greenwich Village neighbourhood of Lower Manhattan, New York.

Police raids on gay bars were frequent in this period, mainly because they were run by the Mafia and crime syndicates, who made a lot of money through serving gay people that were violating the gender-appropriate clothing statutes, and by serving minors, often homeless or male prostitutes.

By the 1960s, the Genovese crime family controlled most gay bars of Greenwich Village. Reports reveal these bars often lacked fire exits, running water, clean toilets and quality-controlled alcohol. It is also said that the Genovese family frequently bribed some corrupt police officers to ignore the deplorable conditions and un-lawful activities occurring within the clubs.

When the New York City Police raided the Stonewall Inn on June 28, they arrested thirteen people, including employees and other people violating the law. But within minutes of the arrest, a full-blown riot began as angry patrons and neighbourhood residents gathered outside the pub began to throw stones, bottles and other objects at the police.

The officers managed to barricade themselves inside the premises, but the angry mob set the place on fire. Fortunately, the Fire Department and a Riot Squad were able to extinguish the flames in time and rescue those inside the Inn, as well as disperse the crowd.

However, tensions between the New York City Police and the gay residents of Greenwich Village, sometimes involving thousands of people, erupted into more violent protests and clashes in the area for another five days.

Within weeks of the Stonewall event, Greenwich Village residents organized into many activist groups that demanded to live and practice openly what the State Law forbid.

Although the Stonewall Riots did not start the Gay Rights Movement, it was a powerful force that ignited LGBTQ activism and the birth of numerous new gay-rights organizations, such as:

The Stonewall Charity Organization

The Gay Liberation Front

The Human Rights Campaign

The Gay and Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation (GLAAD)

The Parents, Families and Friends of Lesbian and Gays (PFLAG)

To celebrate the Stonewall Riot anniversary, the first gay pride marches took place on June 28, 1970, in Chicago, Los Angeles, New York and San Francisco. And to this day, pride events have been held annually in the month of June “in horror” of the “brutal behaviour” of the Law Enforcement during the Stonewall Riots, and in honour of the “heroism” of the arsonists.

In 2016, gay-rights activist Barack Obama designated the sites of the riots – the Stonewall Inn in Christopher Street, Christopher Park and the nearby streets – a national monument in recognition of their “contribution to gay rights.”

And in June 2019, New York City Police Commissioner, James P. O’Neill, gave a formal apology for “police actions” at Stonewall in 1969. Now it becomes clear why, with all our modern Surveillance and Intelligence Agencies, no one can tell us who started the Stonewall riots.

Therefore, my friends, while there may be a few isolated cases of abuse and hatred against gay people, the Jews and black people, very often all this “hate,” “discrimination” and “abuse” of human rights has actually been the reverse throughout history.

Note again the craftiness of Satan. Besides adopting a biblical symbol – the rainbow – to deceive people, he has also used an important biblical commandment – love for our neighbour – to deceive the masses. His servants do this by twisting and misinterpreting this biblical commandment to their own destruction. LOVE ALWAYS WINS is their Motto.

04

DOING MORE HARM THAN GOOD

Friends, if love always wins – and indeed it does – we need to define the biblical definition of what real love is. As we have demonstrated, those who are advancing and promoting the LGBTQ Agenda do not have the interests of the average gay individual at heart. And they are certainly not concerned for the salvation of their souls, but only for their eternal perdition.

There is a severe price to pay for living this type of lifestyle. We cannot find clearer words on the subject than those given by the Apostle Paul below:

For this reason God gave them up to degrading passions. Their women exchanged natural intercourse for unnatural, and in the same way also the men, giving up natural intercourse with women, were consumed with passion for one another. Men committed shameless acts with men and received in their own persons the due penalty for their error.

(Romans 1:26-28)

Do you not know that wrongdoers will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived! Fornicators, idolaters, adulterers, male prostitutes, sodomites, thieves, the greedy, drunkards, revilers, robbers – none of these will inherit the kingdom of God.

(1Corinthians 6:9-11)

Therefore, whatever our modern-day scientists, psychologists, religious leaders, or gay activists have to say on LGBTQ rights is irrelevant. The Bible, by which everything must be measured, clearly teaches that homosexual acts, and indeed all sexual acts outside of marriage, are sinful in the eyes of God and that those who practice and condone them will be shut out from God's presence forever.

Now I can hear someone object, "Unfair! Unfair! If you are born gay, what can you do?" Friend, we are all born sinners and displease God in one way or another by our actions. The Apostle Paul puts it this way:

While we were living in the flesh, our sinful passions, aroused by the law, were at work in our members to bear fruit for death.

(Romans 7:5-6)

But God also gives great hope. Through the death of His Son Jesus Christ, He not only offers forgiveness and a new start to anyone who will repent, He has promised complete deliverance from every type of sin through the New Birth:

We know that our old self was crucified with him so that the body of sin might be destroyed and we might no longer be enslaved to sin. For whoever has died is free from sin.

(Romans 6:6-7)

Therefore do not let sin exercise dominion in your mortal bodies, to make you obey their passions. No longer present your members to sin as instruments of wickedness, but present yourself to God as those who have been brought from death to life, and present your members to God as instruments of righteousness. For sin will have no dominion over you, since you are not under law but under grace.

(Romans 6:12-15)

This includes sexual sin! No matter how strong base inclinations may be, Jesus has the power and authority to set you free and change your desires.

A Word of Warning

Speaking to Christians, George Carneal added in his interview with CBN News that in order to help gay people, believers need to respond in truth and love, but without affirming the gay lifestyle. He warns of the danger of doing this:

When a Christian affirms this, they think they are doing the most loving thing, but you are not. You are not only hurting that individual, you are pushing them into a life where they are not going to find any peace, happiness or contentment. You are pushing them into further rebellion against God.

This agrees with the biblical description of true love. It means speaking the truth to your neighbour, even though you know it might be painful for them to hear. The late Pastor David Wilkerson made some statements in his book The Vision in 2003 that tie in very much with what George Carneal and other ex-homosexuals warned would happen if Christians condone the gay lifestyle. He wrote:

There are only two forces that hold back homosexuals from giving themselves over completely to their sin, and they are rejection by society and the repudiation and teachings of the Church.

When society no longer rejects their sin as abnormal and fully accepts them and encourages them in their abnormality, and when the Church no longer preaches against it as sin and consoles them in their sexual activities – there no longer exists any hindering forces. The flood-gates are open, and homosexuals are encouraged to continue in their sin.

Pastor Wilkerson goes on to predict what we have been witnessing recently, and which also agrees with what we said earlier – that most often the “discrimination” and “violence” is the reverse. He wrote:

Believe me when I tell you the time is not far off that you will pick up your local newspaper and read sordid accounts of innocent children being attacked by wild homosexual mobs in parks and on city streets. The mass rapes will come just as surely as predicted in the Gospels. I see them coming in our generation. Twenty-seven boys were murdered in Houston, Texas, by a small homosexual gang. This sordid news story is the beginning of many other such tragic outbreaks.

You can expect more than one homosexual scandal in very high places. The homosexual community will become so militant and brazen that they will flaunt their sin on network talk shows very shortly. Very clearly, I see homosexuals coming out in mass numbers and deviate sex crimes becoming more numerous and vicious.

Dear Christian brothers and sisters, considering the clear biblical and historical evidence we have provided in this book, you will agree that anyone who claims to be a follower of Christ, but does not preach the truth of God's Word to the gay community – of their need to repent and turn from their sinful lifestyle – then he is not showing them love, but hate!

Whether this is done in ignorance or to protect oneself from being unpopular, it makes no difference. Such a person is without excuse either way and will suffer the same faith as the unrepentant on Judgement Day, when the Lord Jesus appears to “Punish those who do not know God and do not obey the gospel of our Lord Jesus.”

Let us be careful therefore not to be found in this category. Rather, as we observe the Day approaching, let us be attentive to heed this important command from the Apostle Paul when he says:

In the presence of God and of Christ Jesus, who is to judge the living and the dead, and in view of his appearing and his kingdom, I solemnly urge you: proclaim the message; be persistent whether the time is favourable or unfavourable, convince, rebuke, and encourage, with the utmost patience in teaching.

(2 Timothy 4:1-3)